Oswicco, N. Y., Sept. 10, - General Master Workman Powderly addressed an imm use mass meeting here last night. He was received with great en thu-i-sra by the Knights of Labor and escelled to the hull amid a blaze of red fire. Mr. Pewderly reviewed and ex-pounded the principles of the knights. He referred to the Central strike, condenning the corporation for its cause and asked suspension of judgment re-garding the mon arrested for wrecking trains until they could be heard and tried. He declared that a law should be enacted that would prevent a corpora-tion from doing anything to precipitate a strike or laborers from striking until both sides gould be heard and massed upon by a board of arbitration authorized to act.

Mr. Powderly declared that the telegraphic report that 10,000 glass blowers would leave the order was false, and that there was absolutely no foundation for the story. Mr. Powderly expressed friendship for the Brotherhood of Locamotive Engineers, and said the days were coming when the Brotherhood of Engineers. Firemen, the Knights of Laber, and all others would clasp hands in their ewa defense, and in behalf of their homes and their families.

He writes steadily until :80 p. m. The result is over a half page of strong, yet graceful, expression of editorial opinions. Then Mr. Halstead writes a column-often a two-columnletter to his Cincinnati paper. This he sends every day, Sundays included. His associates in Brooklyn look upon him with wondering eyes. But Mr. Halstead says that he has found some difficulty in filling in his spare time. For that reason he has now taken up some "outside" literary work.

Some little time before he left Cincinnati Mr. Halstead employed a stenographer. But he filled the stenographer's notebook in no time. Then, having so much more time than he needed, he would take up his pencil and busy himself again. The consequence was that he did about two men's work, and he was pretty well tired out when his day was over. With all his capacity for work he is invariably in good spirits. He reads the thrusts of political opponents with amusement-the sharper they are the more he is amused. Then he takes his pencil and responds.-New York

The long continued drought in central and southern lown has brought to light the petrified remains of some autediluvian monster, over which the waters of the Des Moines river have rolled for centuries. The resting place of this original first settler is in the bed of the river near the little village of Percy, in Marion county. During the great drought of three years ago, when the river was lower than it had ever been within the memory of white men. S. R. Why the Turkeys Danced.

There died a few weeks ago in San Francisco an old man who, a generation ago, was known in New York as "Turcontrived to pull through. All the time key Levy." His name was Aaron Levy. and in ante-bellum times he kept a sability and grandees sent thrice a day to loon on Chatham street, near Daxter. The great attraction of Levy's place was a big cageon a raised platform, in which others the stern visitation resulting from were confined three solomn turkeys. An old chap with a cracked violin would begin to play a tune, and the turkeys would dance, first with slow and stately measure, gradually becoming more animated as the fidener fiddled faster, and eventually eading with a ludicrously wild and frenzied motion, which created intense surprise and amusement. Old Levy kept his secret until one night a party of inquisitive toughs upset the cage, and found undermeath a charcoal furnace. The bortom of the cage was of metal, and when the old man fiddled he kept time with his foot. This put a bellows in motion, the fire burned bright, the metal which returned Gen. PUBLIC SCHOOL NOTES

The Literary Societies-Enrollment 1303-Miss Hill Wanted Elsewhere.

Miss Hill, principal of the High School, was tendered a very desirable position at Godfrey, Ill., in the Monticello Seminary, this week. The matter was brought before the board of education in an informal way and the board declined to permit Miss Hill to

The literary societies in the High chool are now fully organized. We rave already noticed the one society choosing Longfellow for its name. The ther has adopted Irving for a name. 1:30 p.m. Beginning Friday, sep. 19, the Irvings will give aftermoon literary exercises at Central building, to be followed a week later by the Longfellow society It is expected that a literary contest will be held sometime during the term. There is already a spirit of good naturd rivalry that will serve as an incenive to some valuable literary work.

Arrangements are already under way for each society to give a popular intertainment during the term. The Longfellows will probably bave a lecture by Jas. A. Greene, of the Cincinnati Post, on Henry W. Longfellow, and the Irvings are negotiating for a concert by either the Lotus Glee Club, of Boston, or the Schubert Quartet, of Chicago. The future is certainly full of promise.

It looks this morning like a fight between Seney and Young, but it is acknowledged by Soney men that Doc Norton would control six of the Seneca delegates, which it is known will go to Young. Considering all these circumstances there is much speculation which will continue until until the battle is opened.

Opening of the Convention.

The convention was called to order shortly before 11 o'clock by J. W. Schaufelberger, of Seneca county, and grand total of 1303 pupils. Of these was opened by prayer by Rev. Bark-An organization was effected by choosing Hon. French Thornhill, of Union county, to the chair. Fremont Asford, of Hancock, was announced as ecretary, but, he being absent with his delegation, Eora F. Briggs, of Seneca, was elected in his stead. Harry R. Young, of Marion, Thomas D. Adams, of Seneca, and E. N. Halbedel, of Wyandot, were chosen as assistant temporary secretaries.

After the announcement of committees the convention adjourned until

It was after much canvassing and lofty wire pulling that the convention was again called to order at 1:30. The committee on permanent organization reported Allen W. Smalley, of Wyandot, for chairman, and Harry R. Young, of Marion, for permanent secretary. Judge Smalley addressed the conven vention with a thorough democratic speech. The other committees then reported, after which the convention proceeded with the presentation of candidates.

Hancock was first called, and G. I Pendleton responded, naming Hon. R. Zugschwert. David Joy followed him and presented the name of Judge E. T. Dunn, also of Hancock.
